(VI) Price for the repurchase

[illegible]

(VII) Source of funds for the repurchase

The Company's funds for the repurchase will be derived from the Company's cash.

(VIII) Expected changes in the Company's shareholding structure after the repurchase

Assuming the Company repurchases 300 million shares at the lower limit of the repurchase amount (i.e., HK$600 per share), the Company's shareholding structure will be as follows:

| Shareholding Structure     | Before repurchase | After repurchase at the lower limit of the repurchase amount | After repurchase at the upper limit of the repurchase amount |
|----------------------------|-------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------|
| Number of shares           | 10,000,000        | 20,000,000                                                   | 20,000,000                                                   |
| Percentage of total shares | 100%              | 100%                                                         | 100%                                                         |

The Company's shareholding structure will be as follows:

|  | Before repurchase | After repurchase at the lower limit of the repurchase amount | After repurchase at the upper limit of the repurchase amount |
